DOUBLE UMPIRE SYSTEM. Me Melleves That It Will Pat a Stop to Al Ricking-Some Umpires Selected by President Young-Chornekt and Walcott Still After McCoy-No Bezing Licenses Issued.

The magnates of the National Baseball League are being pretty generally scored all over the elecult for not coming out fairly and squarely egainst kicking by their players while on the field, and there is evidence that they are slowly but surely weakening. The editorial article against the kickers in THE SUN yesterday was generally commended by baseball cranks who love fair play. President Freedman of the New York club said:

I am quite sure there will be no kicking on the field this year, because the couble umpire system will prevent any faultfinding by the players. I have always been an advocate of clean ball playing, and the New Yorks have always deported themselves like gentlemen on the field. Bill Clark is not a kicker, neither is Gleason, although he is a lively player in other respects. George Davis has a reputation for being a gentleman and nobody ever accused Tierman, Van Haltren and McCreery, our outfielders, of rowdy behavior. As far as the pitchers and catchers of the team are concerned, they are angels compared to some players I know of. Joyce has done some protesting won't say kicking-against umpires, but it was under severe provocation.

"The New York club has always tried to have fair play, and I have personally instructed my players not to kick against decisions. I am s portsman and believe in treating opponents squarely at all times. I have never tried to have the New Yorks take undue advantage of the umpire or a visiting team. The way the New Yorks were treated by umpires last year. however, was an outrage. I know of instances where visiting teams at the Polo Grounds surrounded the umpires and kicked without being punished, but when one of the New York play ers made a project he was generally heavily flued. It wasn't fair play. However, with the new double umpire system in vogue I'm positive that the game will be free from wrangles and will be played just as THE SUN would like

Mr. Freedman said that he had not decided upon what announcement to make on the Sunday ball question. F. A. Abell of the Brooklyn Club had a confab with him yesterday morning. presumably about Sunday games.

Ton Tucker will in all probability remain in the League. After his visit here last week, with the idea of having the Brooklyn Club sccure his release from Washington for the insignificant sum of $300. Tucker went over to Philadelphia to see J. Farl Wagner. The latter surprised Tucker by saying that the Louisville, Pittsburg, and Chicago clubs had asked for Washington's terms, and that the price for Tucker's release would be now somewhat in advance of $300. Indeed, Wagner asked Tucker if he would like to remain with the Washingtons, as he could make arrangements o play Doyle on third base. But as Tucker and Doyle have never been imbued with brotherly love, Tucker said no. Wagner then promised to get Tucker a borth in one of the three clubs mentioned, and Tom is waiting anxiously to hear the result. As far as the Chicago Club is concerned, it is said that President Hart, when he wrote to Wagner about Tucker, said that as soon as Anson's contract was up he would name some definite terms for the Washington first baseman, which means that Anson is alated to go, and Tom Burns will succeed him. Tucker has trained down to 170 pounds this winter, and will strengthen any League club. Paseball men all over the country are wondering why the Brooklyn Club did not jump at the chance to get him. Doyle have never been imbued with brotherly

President Young of the National League has begun to make up his umpire staff for the coming season. He has appointed two new men in Edward Swartwood, the old player, who impured in the Eastern League last year, and Thomas Connolly, who did excellent work in the New England League. He has also written a letter to Tim Hurst asking him to file his application. This will be good news to baseball patrons, who admire the nervy little umpire, and who were a triffe apprehensive about his reappointment. Hurst's little difficulty at Cincinnati last year was used by some of his enemies in an ondeavor to drive him off the umpire staff, but his capabilities have been recognized by President Young and he will serve of appointments, as are Carpenter and O'Day, George Wood, the old Philadelphia player, is another good man on the slate. All in all, it looks as though the staff would be even stronger than last year. President Young of the National League has Unless all signs fail, Kid McCoy will have to fight again pretty soon or show his hand. "Par-son" Davies, on behalf of Joe Cheynski, and Tom O'Rourke, acting for Joe Walcott, are hot on his trail. O'Rourke received the following letter from Davies vestering.

latter from Davies yesterday:

I am in earnest about Choynski going after McCoy, and wish you would go to the Police Gazetic office and see if McCoy has posted his forfeit there, and if so will at once forward my check and be ready to mee McCoy at any time or place mutually agreed upon. I hope you will do all you can to bring about the match. I see where the Kid wants to bring in the weight quastion. As he has boxed O'Brien, Creedon, and Bonner at catch weights, and has also expressed a desire to box Joe Goddard, a big heavyweight, I cannot see how he can consistently refuse to conced: a few pounds to Choynski. We prefer New York for the match unless better inducements are affered somewhere else.

McCoy's manager has just issued a sweeping red; a few pounds to Choynski. We prefer New York for the match unless better indocements are offered somewhere else.

McCoy's manager has just issued a sweeping challenge, almost the size of an ordinary theat-fiest bill poster, to the effect that the "Kid" will fight "any man in the world for $20,000." O'Hourke said last night that he would promptly accept this latest offer and would show good faith by calling McCoy's manager's attention to his deposit of $5,000, which is still up.

"That money is a big enough2devost to bind a match for $20,000 a side," said O'Hourke yesterday, "and it talks, too. McCoy's deft is to fight anybody in the world, no weight being rentioned. I will not name Corbett, Fitz-simmons, Choynski, or poor Joe Goddard, but I'll find a man who will fight McCoy for $20,000 a side. But the fight cannot take place in this State because side bets do not go here. I didn't say Joe Walcott was not the man to fight McCoy, and I didn't say he was. But I'll accept the challenge and will cover as much of the stakes as McCoy and his manager care to put up. Walcott is still anxious to meet McCoy, and for big money, too. It's surprising why the 'Kid' doesn't gobble up such an easy chance to make money. He says he is willing to fight Choynski! I tell you that McCoy is very much overrated. If he wasn't, he wouldn't be dodring all these chances to meet good mee. As for the talk about his weight when he met Creeden, let me say that instead of weighing 159 pounds, as he says he did, McCoy weighed 168 pounds, Fitzsimmons can get under 158 pounds more easily than McCoy an."

mons can get under 158 pounds more easily than McCoy can."

than McCoy can."

The Police Board did not issue any boxing club licenses yesterday. William Newman, manager of the Polo A. C., waited for some good news all day in vain. So did the managers of the Greenpoint Sporting Club. O'Hourke, too, was unable to say when he would begin operations at Concy Island. It is proposed to call the club there the Broadway A. C. O'Rourke is overrun with applications for matches, Jimmy Kelly, who had Dick O'Brien under his wing in England, has been commissioned by Dick Burge to get a match over here with Kid Lavigno if possible. Ben Jordan, the English featherweight, is also coming over to light George Dixon, if a match can be made. A "go" between Dave Sullivan and the winner of the proposed Kelly-Rotchford battle is also talked of.

A suggestion was made by THE SUN yesterday that, if followed by the universities, may pave the way to an amicable settlement of the rowing squabble. If Yale will agree to row another race with Cornell in 1809 in addition to the proposed contest on the Thames this year, it is probable that the Ithacans will ultimately view it with favor, he maters what they may say now. In asking Cornell to row at New London, Yale forces the Ithacans to make a concession of considerable importance. In refusing to guaranter Cornell more than one race, Vale shows an unwillinguess to be exactly fair to the champions. If Cornel is welcome to New London this year in a friangular race, why is it not fair to welcome her next year, whether she wins or loses this race! This is the question conservative college men are asking. Yale can solve the whole problem by merely giving a verbal promise of a race notly year, which, in view of the public demand for such a race, appears to be only just. It will satisfy Cornell and will enable the ithacans to make arrangements for their race with Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania.

A circular letter to Harvard alumni has bee sent out from Boston in the interest of the uni versity athletics. It is signed by Amory G. Hodges, '74; A. C. Tower, '77; Frederick W. Thayer, '78; Frederick W. Smith, '79; Edward D. Brandegee, '81; Roland W. Boyden, '85; Augustus P. Gardner. '86; Charles F. Adams, second, '88; Edward C. Storrow, '89, and Edgar N. Wrightington, '97, as a Committee on Organization. The committee came into existence as a result of a meeting held by about sixty Harvard grad uates on Dec. 11 last, to consider how the past members of the university could best serve its athletic interests. At the meeting a letter was read from Mr. Adams and Mr. Storrow, now of the Organization Committee; Thos. N. Perkins '91; Louis A. Frothingham, '93, and Bertram G. Waters, '94, proposing the formation of an association of all Haward graduates who are interested in athletics. The writers expressed the belief that such an association would have strong influence in crystallizing the opinions o graduates on matters of athletic interest; that the association's Executive Committee "would be a well-informed body, to whom all graduate could apply for information, and that in this way ill-considered criticism, with its discouraging effect on teams and coaches, would be much leasened;" that the association would be an efficient body for the raising of money for such matters as the improvement of Soldiers' Field, and that, "by influencing the undergraduates," if would "tend to create a unity of opinion and action which at present is lacking."

The suggestion met with approval, and the graduates whose names are signed to the circular letter were selected as a committee to organize the proposed association. The letter announces that a meeting for organization will be held at Sanders Theatre, Cambridge, on Wednesday, Jan. 28, at 8 P. M., and that all persons who have been connected as students with any department of the university are invited.

It will, however, seek to establish intimate relations with all, in full confidence that they are ready and eager to secure such support and counsel as a strong, representative graduate committee can give. * It will be in touch with graduates and undergraduates, coaches and players, and its familiarity with past experience and present necessities will make it an effective agency in bringing about the unity of effort now lacking."

The Organization Committee express the hope that all who receive information of the Samders Theatre meeting will be able to testify by their presence their interest in Harvard athletics. It says that the proposed plan of organization will offer to every member the opportunity "for such grade of activity as he may select. He may aim to serve on the Executive Committee; he may keep up a correspondence with the Secretary of the association and be confident that his ideas will reach the proper authorities, or he can content himself with a yearly subscription and a vote."

With the alm of obtaining a large membership, the support of a large number of graduates being resential to the success of the project, it has been planned to make the dness small, $2 a year, and to have no initiation fee. The committee says that graduates have long deplored the lack of a permanent policy in Harvard athletics, and adds that the graduates have long deplored the lack of a permanent policy in harvard athletics, and adds that the graduates have failed to remedy.

The Executive Committee of the various athletic and physical culture organizations is pre-paring to strike another blow in the cause of free training for the masses. James J. Frawley of the Knickerbocker A. C., Chairman of the committee, has issued a notice in favor of "the establishment and maintenance of outdoor gymnasia and public pleasure and athletic grounds in small and large parks and the public choose of Greater New York." Prominent advocates of the movement are invited to appear beore Mayor Van Wyck at 3 o'clock on Thursday forc Mayor Van Wyck at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon for the purpose of explaining the situation to him and of adversating the appointment of a committee on small parks to succeed that appointed under Mayor Strong sadministration. PRINCETON, Jan. 10 .- Princeton's track athctes started training for the spring games this afternoon. About thirty-five men responded to Trainer Christie's call for candidates, and under his direction went through an hour's light exercise. Gymnasium work will be continued until the weather permits of outdoor exercise, when cross-country runs will be indulged in by the distance men. Trainer Christic expressed himself as well satisfied with the material, and expects that this year's team will be fully as strong as the one last season.

Why the Ithneaus Take This Stand-Cornell' Athletic Council Hold n Long Section—Its Decision Sent to Marvard, Yale, Colum-bis, and the University of Pennsylvania. ITHACA, Jan. 10.-The Cornell Athletic Council et at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the purpos of taking definite action on the challenge reelven from Yale for a boat race at New Lond next June. At 6 o'clock the Council took a recess until 7:30 o'clock, when consideration of the question was renewed. It was near midnight before final adjournment was taken. The Secretary of the council gave out the following unnouncement: "During the interval which has clapsed since he last meeting means had been taken to secure further information regarding the wishes of various colleges and regarding different courses. A conclusion satisfactory to all was easily reached, and it is confidently believed that it will prove agreeable to all parties concerned. Communications will be sent to Columbia, Farvard, University of Pennsylvania, and Yale, embodying the decision of Cornell, and until they have been received by these universities, of course no statement regarding their contents will be given out by Cornell."

EA member of the Council said to THE SUN

There were many things that the Council had to consider. First, and the most important, was the question as to whether it was advantageous for Cornell to have athletic relations with Yale. That point was answered in the ffirmative. There could be no dispute over that. The next point was how much of a sacrifice could Cornell afford to make to bring about a renewal of the friendly relations with Yale? This point has been the bone of contention in the Council ever since Yale's challenge was received. We have discussed the matter pro and con in every detail, and before the recent con in every detail, and before the recent vacation were no nearer a solution of the problem than when we started. Indirectly, at the Albany conference, Yale was informed that Cornell wished a three years' agreement and that if she got it she might be induced to row at New London. Yale since then has signified her unwillingness to make an agreement. This put the whole question back to its original status and we were as much at sea as ever. Finally one member of the Council presented a sugestion, which met with some opposition at first, but when discussed at length was adopted as a compromise.

first, but when discussed at length was adopted as a compromise.

"Cornell will, therefore, accept Yale's challenge to row at New London. She will waive all objections to course and put up with what inconvenience may be necessary because of her having another race with the University of Pennsylvania and Columbia. The challenge is accepted with a condition, however, that Yale must give assurances to Cornell of a race next year. The latter will waive all claims for a three or five hear agreement. She does must give assurances to Cornell of a race next year. The latter will waive all claims for a three or five year agreement. She does not request a signed agreement for the race next year, merely an assurance from some one in authority at Yale that Cornell will get a race. If Yale refuses to grant this slight concession, then the proposed race is off and Cornell will go to Poughkeepsie for her races with Old Penn, Columbia, and Harvard.

"Cornell's litea in making this proposition is this: If Yale has any intention of reecognizing Cornell in the future she can readily grant the request. If, however, she has an dear that she has an exceptionally good crew this rear, and, being on her own course at New London, can defeat Cornell and will then drop the Ithacans entirely, she will refuse Cornel's request, and it is better that the latter should know it this year than next. Yale's answer to Cornel's latest proposition will show Yale's hand, and upon Yale now rests entirely the responsibility of bringing about a Cornel' Yale boat race."

Company & Tries for the Kemp and Col. Clark

The Edward Kemp and Col. Emmons Clark trophy matches were begun at the Seventh Reg-iment rifle ranges last night by Company G. These matches are considered the most impor tant in the organization, owing to the large number of men involved. The conditions gov erning both are alike. They are: Five shots standing and five prone, rt 200 and 500 yards In the Kemp shoot, however, the teams number twenty-five; in the Clark there are fifty, th twenty-five in the Kemp and twenty-five addi tional. Each company shoots on its own drill night, and the one making the highest aggregate will hold the trophy for one year.

The men who shot last night made some high scores. The best one was Private W. M. Stillwell, Jr.'s, 48 out of a possible 50. The scores follow:

HOAP IV IVER THE PER SHOP VETS SITE

These are busy days at the various headquarters of Eastern horsemen. Entries for future stakes are pouring in by every mail, and the out-look for the coming season is decidedly encouraging. Nominations for the stakes of the Coney Island and Brooklyn clubs closed officially yes terday and will be in shape for publication In a few days. It is confidently expected that the lists, when complete, will be both lengthy and representative.

Nominations for the Coney Island Jockey Club's Futurity of 1900, which closed nominally on Jan. 4, are nearly all in. The total, so far, is 923. This is the largest number ever received for a Futurity except in 1895, when the total was 1,010. J. B. Hazgin not only maintains his prestige as the most liberal nominator, but breaks all individual records with a list of 196. Milton Young comes next with 67, the Belle Meade Stud nominates 44, August Belmont is responsible for 33, Marcus Daly names 31, J. R. & F. P. Keene 25, A. H. & D. H. AMERICAN VACUT FOR A BRITON. The Herrenhoffs Have Nearly Finished a Race for the Mediterranean Races.

Notwithstanding the usual amount of secrecy that is always observed by the Herreshoff Company, it leaked out yesterday that the firm has been at work for several weeks on a racing racht for an English sportsman whose name could not be learned. The craft is nearly finished, and from what can be seen she will have plenty of speed. She is nearly sixty feet over model contains many of the underbody features of R. F. Lippett's Wasp, which, although more than five years old, is still the champion of her class. In some respects she also resembles the Defender. all, with a water line of about forty feet. The

The underbody is a modification of the hollow section type, and the lead ballast is moulded in the form of the keel and bolted in place with diagonal bars. Her draught will be somewhat deeper than the majority of boats in this country, while her beam will conform to the accepted types on the other side of the Atlantic. The forward part of the underbody is cut away similar to that of the Defender, and the lines of the entrance at the water line are rather full. Her run begins low down and well forward of the midship section, and is carried aft in an easy sweep that is worked out in a straight line into the long overhang aft. The underbody is a modification of the ho sweep that is worked out in a straight line into the long overhang aft.

She is double planked, the inside being of cypress and the outboard of mahogany laid in imported marine glue. It is expected that the yacht will be launched during the first week in February, and will be a competitor in the Med-iterranean regattas.

Yampa Arrives at Southampton. R. Suydam Palmer received a cablegram yes terday stating that the yacht Yampa, which he recently sold to a German admiral, had arrived at Southampton during the early morning, after a remarkably fast voyage for this season of the year. She sailed on Documber 23 from this port, taking the southern passage. Nothwithstanding the heavy gales from the southsoutheast, which caused some uncasiness for her safety. she made the trip in nineteen days. Capt. FRESH MOVEMENT TO SECURE PATH ACROSS THE BRIDGE.

otter's Campaign for Re-Ricction Indicates Success—Lehr, the German Champton, to Return Home—He Will He Back to Race Later On—A Chambers Tandom Introduced. A meeting of the committee representing the ocal cycling associations, appointed to arrange for the construction of a cycle path across the Brooklyn Bridge, was held yesterday. There were present Michael Furst, W. B. Fullerton, James O'Neil, E. La Manna, and M. M. Belding, Jr. The committee discussed at length the advisability of providing some means of transportation for bicycle riders across the bridge. It was pointed out that bloycle riders will assume great risk in attempting to cross the bridge on the roadways after the troller cars are running. The committee decided to call upon Bridge Commissioner Shea and lay the situation before him for consideration. President Potter of the L. A. W. announced yesterday to a Sun reporter that he has the assurance of 280 votes in his candidacy for re election to the Presidency. This number includes the Pennsylvania vote. While admitting that the position assumed by George Gideon of Philadelphia leaves great doubt as to whether the latter will be a candidate, Potter is sanguine of election. Secretary-Treasurer Collins of the Pennsylvania division advised Potter by letter yesterday that he is confident that the Gideon boom will die within the next few days. Potter also received communications from the Colorado, Iowa, and Wisconsin divisions pledging sup-lowa, and Wisconsin divisions piedging support.

In discussing the situation and prospect of the bloycle market with a reporter of The Sun, the manager of one of the largest manufactories gave expression to some opinions, which, coming from such a source, hold interest for the general riding public. Having first acquitted himself of being a pessimist or calamity ories, this philosophic manager said substantially:

"Prices once broken can never be made to move upward. We are now down to hard pan, where manufacturers have only the smallest of margins. As between $75 and $50 wheels, 75 per cent. of the sales this year will be of the $50 variety. There will be many failures in the trade, too. I fear a break in the market with a general confusion and slaughter of prices such as we witnessed last year. Consider it, the manufacturers are furnishing as good a wheel for $50 as they put out in 1897 for $100. In fact it is the same wheel in most cases. For $75 they are offering an 1898 model with the latest improvements of which they are capable. Of course, every year the cost of manufacture is cheaper, but at these prices the makers have too small a profit to allow of a reasonable percentage of loss. Those who are posted know that even at the $100 price only the largest manufacturers made money. What will happen to them if they meet another over-stocked and failling market and depreciation of reasonable percentage of loss. Those who are posted know that even at the $100 price only the largest manufacturers made money. What will happen to them if they meet another overstocked and falling market and depreciation of values next summer!

"Bepartment stores are now handling highgrade wheels, and it is said they have signed contracts to maintain prices. I am rather afraid, however, that they will not be able to sell the quantities they have bought, and in that event they will out the prices, contracts or no contracts. The regular trade will have to meet the competition or stop selling. It is a pity that in the bicycle trade there is not a custom, as in some other trades, of the manufacturers all pulling together and buying in the stocks of bankrupt firms to prevent the goods being thrown on the market below cost and breaking prices. Manufacturers are being driven to desperation in the attempt to figure out profits with falling prices. The first cost of material is becoming a question of great moment with them and they are being aught to skimp everywhere. With some of the best firms gone to the wall and there comes a time when riders are unable to buy a reliable wheel, they will have to thank their own bargain-hunting instincts. Of course, if matters go as far as that, there will be a healthy reaction." go as far as that, there will be a healthy rea

August Lehr, the German champlon, who is now in this country, has received advices from home that will compel him to leave America early in March. Lehr, who is now in Florida training, has expressed a wish to meet Walter Sanger in a series of match races, best two out of three, at one mile, for a $500 purse and a side bet before he departs. The German rider is anxious to try conclusions with some well-known American rider before he leaves for home, although he asserts that he will return to America in May to participate in all the big out-door meets of the coming season. It was reported yesterday that Sanger may decline to accept Lehr's'challenge, since he has practically abandoned the racing track, but in such an event it is safe to assume that any number of the leading short-distance riders now in training will accommodate the foreign crack. ng will accommodate the foreign crack.

President J. E. Sullivan of the New Jersey Athletic Club stated yesterday that a proposition has been submitted to his club by a syndicate to permit the construction of a bicycle track at the New Jersey Oval. The plan calls for the construction of a one-third of a mile board track extending around the present cinder path and beyond the clubhouse to the water's edge. The club will be put to no expense in the enterprise and it is expected that the board will pass favorably upon the proposition.

Charley Church and B. McCurdy, the wellwheel, which is the first of its kind ever fitted wheel, which is the first of its kind ever fitted with a chainless gear, gave great satisfaction. The wheel weighed forty-eight pounds, but the riders managed to cover a quarter in 27 seconds and the half mile in 56 seconds. After several trials the general sentiment was that a chainless tandem will prove as great an innovation as the chainless single. NOTES.

tegistered A. A. U. Amateure Can Take In All Champtonships Free. James E. Sullivan, the popular Secretary of the A. A. U., who devotes most of his leisure time to the advancement of amateur sport, had much to say yesterday on his faverite subject. In a chat with THE SUN reporter be outlined the present progressive policy of the Union and explained many points which have been made the subject of controversy. Referring to the ball players and others so much of late, he said: "The idea is to have all good amateurs registered so that we can keep in touch with all of them, and protect their interests as well as those of the governing body. Each man who presents satisfactory credentials and gets into line has nothing further to worry about so long as he keeps in the straight path. There is no possibility of any "ringer" cutting in at the games, as a reference to the registration index enables officials to keep a strict check and shut out anybody who cannot show his card.

enables officials to keep a strict check and shut out anybody who cannot show his card.

"If those who have been clamoring most against the tax of $1 would look into the merits of the case they would cease kicking. As a matter of fact the investment of $1 paves the way to a possible saving of 600 or 700 per cent, on the season. Each man who takes out a new registration card before the end of February will receive free access to all the championships which may be promoted by the A. A. U. during the ensuing year. His card cancels his entry fees, and if he is anything of an all-round man he can quit far shead of the game.

"The idea has so favorably impressed the long-headed division that it is proposed to throw the registration list open to all amateurs, whether they have retired from active competition or not. This would lead to a representative membership roll such as forms the backbone of the L. A. W. and would receive the further advantage of increasing the attendance of 'past masters' at championship events. We look for no profit out of championship events, and the idea is to honor every registered card, whether it is held by a competitor or non-competitor, at the turnstiles of all our standard meetings. By this means every regular patron of championship events can go right along the schedule for his dollar."

There Is No Reason Why You Should It You

Fellow the Advice Given Below. "Indigestion is the curse of this country," says a New York medical journal in a recent editorial. "Both men and women suffer from this distressing complaint, and it causes a tremendous amount of misery." This is all very true, but there is no reason why any man or woman should suffer from indigestion when there is a ready means of preventing it. Thousands of people have discovered a sure cure, and come of them have given the public the benefit of their experience. Mrs. E. Tarlton, 345 Park avenue, Cincinnatt, says: "I had dyspepsia for fifteen years and was entirely cured by taking Duffy's pure mals whiskey. I had tried almost everything and know that this whiskey cures where all others

W. F. Anderson, 617 West Indiana street, Chicago, says: "I used Duffy's pure malt whiskey for indigestion and dyspepsia. My stomach is now in better condition than it has been for

These are only two cases selected from thousands of others, but they are sufficient to prove that dyspepsia and indigestion can be always avoided by the regular use of Duffy's pure malt. It will not only keep the digestive organs in perfect condition, but give tone and energy to every part of the body. Make sure that you get no inferior imitation.—Adv.
